

LAINÉ ISSUE 16 PATTERN & YARN INFO

SOE BY ANNA STRANDBERG

Soe is a warm and cosy sweater for cold winter days. It is worked top down with an intricate but simple-to-learn cable on the sleeves that starts from the collar and goes all the way down to the cuff. Soe means warm in Estonian – and wolf in the southern regions of Estonia.

BADANA BY ROSA POMAR

Badana is the name of the most critically endangered of Portugal's native sheep breeds, Churra Badana. Its wool was once used locally for weaving blankets and other textiles but presently there is almost no demand for it and it becomes a source of expense and trouble for the farmers. This pattern was born out of my love for this beautiful breed and respect for the shepherds who keep it alive.
